

LUNCH AND LEARN

OSHA's Top Ten Cited Violations...What Every Supervisor Needs to Know about Safety

APRIL 11TH
11:30AM-1:30PM

$25/PERSON

Lunch included
Registration ends April 4th

HOLIDAY INN
BECKLEY

114 Dry Hill Rd
Beckley, WV 25801

Click to Register

Register on our website:
www.wvmep.com

For more information, or questions:
Michael Goddard
Michael.Goddard@mail.wvu.edu
304-222-4025

John A. Frazer, Ph.D., CSP
John.Frazer@mail.wvu.edu
304-303-3110

Are you interested in learning more about safety and health in the workplace?

Year after year OSHA publishes the top ten most frequently cited violations. The fact that this list remains similar, reveals the core safety and health management programs that need to be a greater priority for your workplace.

Attendees will enjoy lunch during the seminar.

About the Presenter

John A. Frazer, Ph.D., CSP
Industrial Extension Engineer-WVU

John Frazer is an OSHA-authorized outreach trainer and has nearly 21 years of safety and health experience at WVU-IE. He has provided industrial hygiene and safety consulting to small and mid-sized manufacturing firms throughout West Virginia by helping them identify hazards, design and implement hazard controls, and discuss the feasibility of such controls to eliminate or reduce occupational exposures in the workplace.

Workshop Description:

This lunch and learn workshop is intended to arm attendees with the information, knowledge, and skills needed to recognize, evaluate, and control a wide spectrum of occupational safety hazards.

The training covers a variety of general industry safety and health hazards which a worker may encounter and is based on OSHA's top ten most frequently cited standards.

This training will emphasize hazard identification, avoidance, control and prevention, not OSHA specific standards.

More information and registration online at:

www.wvmep.com