In a continued effort to support, strengthen, and sustain manufacturing in West Virginia, the West Virginia University Industrial Extension (WVU-IE) & the West Virginia Manufacturing Extension Partnership (WVMEP) has partnered with the Regional Economic Development Partnership (RED) and Dinsmore & Shohl LLP to host a Northern Panhandle Manufacturers Round Table.

The goal of this round table is to help create a community amongst local manufacturers. There will be open discussion focused on the challenges and opportunities that you are faced with daily, as well as time to talk with each other about best practices, solutions, and to network. In addition to the discussion and networking, we will also provide information on topics aimed at strengthening and sustaining your business.

The tentative agenda for this discussion will include:

- Brief introduction/overview of WVU-IE/MEP, and RED
- What is cybersecurity, and why it matters to you
- Labor & employment updates for West Virginia
- Open discussion: Your biggest challenges & opportunities?
